World Book Day

During World Book Day, we explored what we mean by 'difference', investigated how different skills and enthusiasms are needed when working in a team and displayed the outcomes of our work in a creative way. We listened to the book "Along came a different" by Tom McLaughlin. It was an inspiring picture book that showed us how being different doesn't mean that you can't be friends. We considered difference and uniqueness by investigating concentric shapes. We thought about how they share a central point but that each are different and unique. We also used the work of Wassily Kandinsky to help us understand abstract art. Today, we dressed up as our favourite book characters, shared our stories and found our favourite phrases or words from our books.

Parents Day

Yesterday we welcomed parents into our school with the second of our whole school parent days this year. Children were able to show their parents what they have been learning and give them a tour of their every day learning environment. It was a real pleasure to open our doors again in this way, the children thoroughly enjoyed the day. Thank you for your support as always with our school/home partnership.
